IT is only htinian to make comparisons between American English institutions, although they are likely to turn out as odious as the proverb says ! The first institution in America that distressed me was the sti-air; beat. It is fai more manag^ble now thin it both m L,*icl$ a,r,-l theatres, Lecause thtre are more individual Irjatvrs, Bat how I suffered from it at lira! 1 cannot describe ! ! ;;.^.,I tu feel dreadfully ill, and when we could not tun: the ht^l of! at the theatre, the play always went badly. My voice was too. At Toledo once, it nearly west altogether, Then the next Eight, after a fight for it, we got the theatre cool, the -difference that it to the plajy was extraordinary. 1 in my form, feeling well and jolly !

No wonder the Americans ice- water very thin clothes indoors. Their are hotter ever are, even in the height of the snmnier— we a ! But co wonder, either, in shiver at our ca!d$_s$ draughty They are up in hot-houses.

If I did not 1 the ice is a at American meals* is on ice, tfee ice-water, the it as a driiik$_s$ looks in th# liot